Participants are invited to read the instructions for authors on the website of the Journal (<http://www.springerlink.com>) and to submit an appropriately prepared article online for review.

About Baden-Württemberg

Baden-Württemberg is one of the 16 states (Bundesländer) of the Federal Republic of Germany and lies in the southwestern part of the country to the east of the Upper Rhine. With about 11 million inhabitants and about 36 million sq km, it is compared to the other states third place with respect to population and size. Next to the capital Stuttgart other famous cities are Karlsruhe (home of the German Constitutional Court) and Mannheim. With Tübingen, Freiburg and Heidelberg some of Germany's oldest and most famous and prestigious universities are located in Baden-Württemberg. A number of well-known enterprises is headquartered in the state, for example Daimler, Porsche, Robert Bosch GmbH (automobile industry), Carl Zeiss AG (optics), SAP (largest software enterprise in Europe). With the Black Forest, Neckartal Valley and the Lake Constance one can also find popular holiday destinations. For more information:

Interdepartmental Centre for Ethics in the Sciences and Humanities (IZEW) and Institute for Ethics and History of Medicine

The interdepartmental Centre for Ethics in the Sciences and Humanities (IZEW) and the Institute for Ethics and History of Medicine are organising the conference together.

The IZEW is an interdepartmental research centre at the University of Tübingen and was founded in 1990. We aim at research in cooperation between scholars of different disciplines and the advancement of the next generation of researchers in the field of ethics in the sciences and humanities. Another focal point is the transfer of results of research to the area of education, and the coordination of both regional and international networks on ethical topics. The IZEW maintains an extensive specialist library with a documentation centre. More information:
